

CHARM OF CULTURE • ITALIAN-MADE

Fornace Della Cava products are made from a mixture of finely ground pure raw material. They are entirely hand made using a fluid forging or single-firing technique.

One of the results of the craftsmanship approach is that the size and surface appearance will show slight variations - one of the more delightful aspects of handmade products.

The glazed surface can have pin holes and intentional colour and shading differences to produce an overall pleasant and quite original aesthetic effect.

This product is the end result of state of the art technology but in full respect of the on-going traditions cherished at Vietri's Ceramic works.

PRODUCTION TECHNIQUES

Single casting shaped and spatulated entirely by hand.

FORMAT

The colours are available in different formats.

The proposal of an unusual size for interior design purposes, the development of an original support, the masterful application of glazes and craft-based production methods soon revealed the sophisticated character of this Collection from the South of Italy.
